

JQuery Mobile Framework For Xoops - Developer News

NEWS_PDF_AUTHOR: timgno

NEWS_PDF_DATE: 2012/10/23 14:38:34

I had already created the mobile site in a third level of my site, but had no more than one page index.php

Now I have installed xoops 2.5.5 and did some tests locally with this framework as you can see from this picture is just the beginning.

I hope soon after a period of inactivity for a minor surgical procedure to resume work on this idea that you can share building a real framework to integrate into xoops with the creation of themes for this.

If you like the idea I would be happy to hear your opinion about it for more ideas.

Let's talk about the jQuery Mobile framework

Read the latest news about it and discuss it in this thread

I had already created the mobile site in a third level of my site, but had no more than one page index.php

Now I have installed xoops 2.5.5 and did some tests locally with this framework as you can see from this picture is just the beginning.

I hope soon after a period of inactivity for a minor surgical procedure to resume work on this idea that you can share building a real framework to integrate into xoops with the creation of themes for this.

If you like the idea I would be happy to hear your opinion about it for more ideas.

Let's talk about the jQuery Mobile framework

Read the latest news about it and discuss it in this thread