I finished TheaterMan 2!!! It has a much-improved administrative section, no bugs yet, and a real language file. It can even port over information from a previous installation of TheaterMan 1. I'm very happy with it.

It allows you to create a show and then have it play at different times at different locations. The image manager is much easier to use, and it even has a simple system for uploading press package information about each show (but this is fairly rudimentary for now). All around it's far easier to use, more stable, and more flexible than the first one.
