Hello everyone,

I don't know how many of you might be interested but...

I have made a fair number of software quality and information technology development materials available to the world (Freeware). I have obtained all appropriate releases so that you may use them (per the liceses contained in each document or tool)in your organizations. 😃

The site links to these materials and information are:
http://www.eirenicon.org/Support/index.php and http://www.eirenicon.org/index.php

Should you have problems with any of the tools you may report bugs and/ or enhancement requests on my HelpDesk available for either site location.
