I created a small module a while back to allow users to store up to 10 links in a block to be used as a sort-of personal favorites menu. A few different people asked me to release this module to the public, which I now have. The script is installable like any other module, and has its own block that needs activated and given certain rights to. Make sure that Anon users don't have access to this block. If you have any probs with the module, please feel free to post on the site.

(Personal Link Block)

It is available for download from my site! 😁
