The website formally known as Digital-Girl.com is back, with a new name...Girl-Gamer.com. We used Xoops on the original site, and are using it again on the new site.

We have started from scratch pretty much, and I've been working hard the past week to get it back online after being away for a few months now. I haven't tested the theme yet on the different browsers, but will get around to it hopefully soon.

Anyway, if there are any female gamers around, or guys interested in female gaming, pop over and say hello! The community is small at present (2 LOL 🤪), but hopefully our old members will find us again!

Cheers,
Dee
