After 5 months of development, countless man hours and a huge effort by all involved, we are very pleased to release the first public demonstration of our new Article Management System module called AMS. Upon registration at the demo site you will have full administrative access to the AMS module so that you can get in and see first hand just what it can do. Many of the features included in AMS are found in no other article management module currently available for Xoops.

AMS was conceived as an Article Management System to house large article repositories with features, robustness and scalability to match. Below is a list of this modules most notable features;

- News 1.2 Code Base
- Article Versioning
- Banner System
- Search by Article ID
- Article Link Manager
- Layout and blocks
- Audience Levels
- Article Manager
