I wanted to let all of the adventure gamers out there know that Amaranth Productions, built on Xoops technology, is up and running. The site has a friendly fantasy atmosphere with free games that I've made. It also has a bustling forum for people who like to play and make games.

This site is a good example for anyone who wants to see a creative way to customize your portal so that it looks like a non-portal website with all of the portal bells and whistles.

You can check out the site at: <http://www.amaranthproductions.com>
