Sunshine is the first theme I have developed, and it is my first official contribution to the Xoops community. It is bright and sunny, as the name suggests. You can preview the theme at <http://www.beerloverseverywhere.com/> (don't attempt to register for the site -- it isn't ready yet!) and download the theme here.

The theme is based on ackbarr's famous karate_redux theme, but I've added two important elements:

First (important!), I have removed some of the newbb2 CSS and added it to the Sunshine CSS, so that the dropdown menus in newbb2 look as though they were made specifically for the Sunshine theme. (I've done this for the other two themes on my website as well.) See notes on the download page and in the style.css file for more info.

Second, I've added the Search field and a link to the Advanced Search form to the header of the theme, so that search features take up minimal space (i.e. no Search block necessary) and are present on every page.

Please let me know what I can do to improve the appearance, performance, and code quality of the theme. Thanks! 😊
