The homepage of the Aqsis Renderman compliant renderer project is now driven entirely by Xoops.

Aqsis

After searching for some time for either a dedicated web adminstrator to take over the role for the project, or a suitable, self sufficient, collaborative CMS to drive the site, I settled on Xoops. I haven't looked back, a great system, with some fantastic modules that is so easy to administer I can concentrate on programming Aqsis again. Backed up by a dedicated and keen support team, one of the best decisions I've made. Thanks to all at the Xoops project.
