

TechnoGremlin.org relaunched - YAXS

NEWS_PDF_AUTHOR: stmatrix

NEWS_PDF_DATE: 2005/7/14 22:14:53

Yep, my personal website TechnoGremlin.org has been relaunched. It has been running previously with a Xoops-installation, but went down for a while. Now I've rebuild it with the MultiLanguage hack and I'm very happy with the results.

Building the site in two languages (English and Dutch) also meant I had to translate all the content that was already there. I'm still not sure I got everything 🗓️

I also restyled the site in the process with a theme based on one of the very nice imago-themes. Although the theme looks basically the same, underneath I've completely rewritten the template from scratch (and there are still some issues to be tackled).

So come and have a look, and have fun.

<http://www.technogremlin.org>

Yep, my personal website TechnoGremlin.org has been relaunched. It has been running previously with a Xoops-installation, but went down for a while. Now I've rebuild it with the MultiLanguage hack and I'm very happy with the results.

Building the site in two languages (English and Dutch) also meant I had to translate all the content that was already there. I'm still not sure I got everything 📅

I also restyled the site in the process with a theme based on one of the very nice imago-themes. Although the theme looks basically the same, underneath I've completely rewritten the template from scratch (and there are still some issues to be tackled).

So come and have a look, and have fun.

<http://www.technogremlin.org>