A new version of the Newbbex module was just released.

This new version greatly reduce the number of sql queries and underline the keywords used in the Xoops search.

To update, just copy the files from the zip archive to the folder where you have installed the module and update it in the Xoops modules manager.

For your information, Newbbex is a forum based on the first version of the Xoops forum (Newbb). This forum brings some additional features.

The module is available for download here
