

SourceForge.Net is being filtered for Persian Internet users. - XOOPS

NEWS_PDF_AUTHOR: alitan

NEWS_PDF_DATE: 2005/8/8 12:16:43

A traditional filtering act of Iranian officials harmed Xoopsers also. Yesterday, Aug 8th, 2005, Internet Service Providers in Iran were orderd to filter SourceForge.Net Preventing Persian users to download Xoops. The reason behind this act is unclear. SourceForge.net, the biggest Open Source website, has been hosting the Xoops and many other programs for years and its censorship may cause trouble for open Source Projects' users. Hopefully this website will be removed from the Iranian Internet blacklist and the ones who had problems downloading such a great and free program will get their right to do so.

A traditional filtering act of Iranian officials harmed Xoopsers also. Yesterday, Aug 8th, 2005, Internet Service Providers in Iran were orderd to filter SourceForge.Net Preventing Persian users to download Xoops. The reason behind this act is unclear. SourceForge.net, the biggest Open Source website, has been hosting the Xoops and many other programs for years and its censorship may cause trouble for open Source Projects' users. Hopefully this website will be removed from the Iranian Internet blacklist and the ones who had problems downloading such a great and free program will get their right to do so.