I'm proud to announce the results of the first xoops-site of the month voting. Proud for we have seen some great xoops examples. It's a strange result in our first voting for we have 2 winners with the same number of votings. And we have 3 sites with same number of votings following those 2 sites.

The winners are:

<http://www.linux-gamers.net>

fireworks.verno.ru

Both sites got the equal number of votings and share the first position.

I'm now dealing and acting with xoops for more than 3 years but i myself was astonished too. Some great examples which i can't believe having missed to read the news of opening or introduction. So for me this underlines the goal of xoopsfactory to have a special place where to show new sites (and news from xoops sites) and where sites can be introduced by their webmasters.

A BIG CONGRATULATION to the winners and a BIG THANKS to all who paticipate, nominate and vote!
