

IIS-Resources Re-Launch - YAXS

NEWS_PDF_AUTHOR: brash

NEWS_PDF_DATE: 2005/11/1 12:47:04

IIS Resources is one of largest Xoops based communities on the Internet that is served from Microsoft's IIS web server software. We have been working on a new site for sometime now, so am very happy to finally have up and running. The new website consists of both customised templates and theme, with the theme having a unique feature of having all the functionality of the search, login and user menu blocks built into the title bar of the website which saves space in the side columns. We would really appreciated it if you would drop by and have a look, and would love to hear any comments/suggestions people might have.

IIS Resources is one of largest Xoops based communities on the Internet that is served from Microsoft's IIS web server software. We have been working on a new site for sometime now, so am very happy to finally have up and running. The new website consists of both customised templates and theme, with the theme having a unique feature of having all the functionality of the search, login and user menu blocks built into the title bar of the website which saves space in the side columns. We would really appreciated it if you would drop by and have a look, and would love to hear any comments/suggestions people might have.