I'm very proud to announce the launch of <http://www.opensourcegids.nl> (also .be), a Dutch portal for Open Source professionals and companies that are in search of professional Open Source based services and products.

OpenSourceGids.nl is aimed at helping Open Source Software to get better exposure as viable business solutions. To facilitate this we have a Business directory where Open Source minded companies can register their services, a project request section and of course a Software section that lists Open Source alternatives for business applications.

If you have a Open Source related business in the Netherlands or Belgium, feel free to register your company (no cost) at OpenSourceGids.nl 😊

If you like, please put a link on your website to help this effort. Several link banners and a button are available on the website.
