

A new core development area for XOOPS - XOOPS

NEWS_PDF_AUTHOR: Marco

NEWS_PDF_DATE: 2005/12/26 11:50:00

Skalpa has just announced the opening of our new core dev area

"I'm publicly opening the new (core) development site, which will become the one of only source of information about the XOOPS developement from now on.

It is far from being complete, but I believe this is the way things should be: give something to everybody even unfinished, then build progressively.

The devlog will be updated daily as much as possible, and alpha releases will be published there too."

Please read more at Core Devteam's Website

Skalpa has just announced the opening of our new core dev area

"I'm publicly opening the new (core) development site, which will become the one of only source of information about the XOOPS developement from now on.

It is far from being complete, but I believe this is the way things should be: give something to everybody even unfinished, then build progressively.

The devlog will be updated daily as much as possible, and alpha releases will be published there too."

Please read more at Core Devteam's Website