Lets start the new year with yet another (if I may say so) beautifull website build by SOFTECHMATRIX with use of the Xoops-platform. The site has officially been launched today. This has been a very large project where we collaborated with two other companies who have been doing content and photography. The layout was designed by us completely from scratch and based solely on the Logo that was provided as only guide for layout style and colors.

More info about the project (currently only in Dutch) is available on the website.
