

XOOPS.org redesign and content renewal project started! - XOOPS

NEWS_PDF_AUTHOR: Herko

NEWS_PDF_DATE: 2006/1/4 15:19:07

The XOOPS.org websites get over 10.000 visitors per day and is in drastic need of an improvement of the user experience. The websites have grown tremendously over the years, making it difficult to find what you are looking for unless you know your way around. The XOOPS.org redesign and content renewal project is meant to enhance and improve the user experience using the means that are available. Also, this project will provide the community the means to participate in reaching this goal. To this end, the framework of the new site is provided, and community collaboration will give shape and content to this framework.

You can participate in this project by joining in the discussions and tasks in this forum!

The XOOPS.org websites get over 10.000 visitors per day and is in drastic need of an improvement of the user experience. The websites have grown tremendously over the years, making it difficult to find what you are looking for unless you know your way around. The XOOPS.org redesign and content renewal project is meant to enhance and improve the user experience using the means that are available. Also, this project will provide the community the means to participate in reaching this goal. To this end, the framework of the new site is provided, and community collaboration will give shape and content to this framework.

You can participate in this project by joining in the discussions and tasks in this forum!