Buzzynet test - YAXS

NEWS_PDF_AUTHOR: luciano

NEWS_PDF_DATE: 2006/1/10 19:19:05

http://www.buzzynet.com

I started giving away "free websites" about 2 years ago with Poink. Then Herko wrote Quote:

> Poink is a CMS, and you build the Poink site with another CMS? wow That's a compliment for XOOPS I think!

.

Well here I go again! On Buzzynet.com users get a free website + hosting (7Mb). An 8 year old should be able to build a website with Buzzynet. there is no need to install anything, just register and start building (after activation by admin).

I'm still working on a better integration with Xoops (user profile), a forum and my English (au secours)... but feel free to test the system!

Don't expect something as fancy as Xoops! The "online sitebuilder" is a flatfile cms with only a guestbook, a poll, a contact form, a galery and 43 content pages and It still needs some work... but have a look at "the big picture".

Thanks!

Luc
http://www.buzzynet.com

http://www.buzzynet.com

I started giving away "free websites" about 2 years ago with Poink. Then Herko wrote Quote:

> Poink is a CMS, and you build the Poink site with another CMS? wow That's a compliment for XOOPS I think!

.

Well here I go again! On Buzzynet.com users get a free website + hosting (7Mb). An 8 year old should be able to build a website with Buzzynet. there is no need to install anything, just register and start building (after activation by admin).

I'm still working on a better integration with Xoops (user profile), a forum and my English (au secours)... but feel free to test the system!

Don't expect something as fancy as Xoops! The "online sitebuilder" is a flatfile cms with only a guestbook, a poll, a contact form, a galery and 43 content pages and It still needs some work... but have a look at "the big picture".

Thanks!

Luc
http://www.buzzynet.com