

Shotokansite Goes XOOPS - YAXS

Finally after over a year of running Dragonfly CMS I was able to switch to XOOPS after seeing the xcGallery module released and testing it on the server and seeing how great it was. I had originally passed over XOOPS reluctantly due to the lack of a good gallery module. I had finally made the choice to shake things up at the site due to the fact that XOOPS really does have a better community with many more modules and more mature CMS code. Not to mention great document management systems. And many of the modules I use thankfully have WYSIWYG and people really love that and GIJOE thanks to his great programming with the AutoLogin code everything is great.

I am currently using the latest:

xcGallery

Smartsection

Xcal

CBB

Weblinks

DocuWiki

Xpress

Thanks to everyone for the fine coding
