Do you dig the look of Carbon Fiber? Then you'll definately want to check out the TypeR theme.

This is a fixed-width, 2-column theme that has the left and right column blocks combined into the right column. The design is clean, standards compliant and very easy to modify.

There is no "logo.gif" file in this design. If you want to change the look of the header, you will need to either modify the hdr.jpg graphic or the #header css definition in the style.css file.

Please see the README.txt file for installation instructions and support information.
