Team Status Report - XOOPS

NEWS_PDF_AUTHOR: JMorris

NEWS_PDF_DATE: 2006/4/28 20:00:00

The following is a brief status report on all Official XOOPS Teams. This report does not contain information regarding the status of the Local Support Communities or individual Module development projects.

The information presented is by no means comprehensive, but it is the most detailed information I could gather over the past week. If there are errors or omissions that need corrected, please post your corrections in the comments to this report so that anyone with appropriate permissions can update this report.

You will notice that N/A is present quite frequently. This means that either information was not available, or not applicable. You will also notice the status of Unknown/Inactive. This means that the status of the team was not able to be determined, or the team is indeed inactive. Again, if there are omissions or errors, please post your corrections here.

To all of the Local Support Communities and individual developers who reported in with their status, Thank You! You've shown a great deal of openess and community spirit and it is greatly appreciated. You all are doing a fine job!

To all of the volunteers who replied offering their assistance, Thank You! We are compiling a list of wiling volunteers as well as tasks that need to be completed. Furthermore, if you are interested in volunteering for any of the teams who are seeking volunteers, please contact the person listed with your skills and availability.

Best Regards,

James Morris

Well, what's next in QA Area on xoops ?

For now, here are our short-term goals :
1 /Release a new version of our tool for modules, adding some improvements detected during our first POC. Make a new POC if necessary.
1bis / Release publicly QA Results for our first POC (Formulaire module)
2/Look for a dedicated module that will suit your needs much better than MS Excel (seems GIJOE has some ideas on that point)
3/ Modify xoops.org module repository to add one (or more) dedicated field for QA.
4/ Move our QA works in a proper area : should it be in core dev area, documentation area, or in a dedicated area ?
5/ Decide collectively with core and module developers if those tests have to be made by devs themselves or by QA Team members (testers). I personally think we can imagine that module developers, as they add their module in download repository, have to set to "Yes" the QA field to indicate their module is passing the QA requirements. If not, calculate how many xoopsers we need to make QA certification,and also call for new members. Set our internal rules (which module have to be certified, when, who ?)

Then
6/ Help core with xoops 2.3 debugging during alpha, beta and RC stage of our product
7/ Update our tool for 2.3x series

With around 25 total local support sites it should be broken down to at lease 5 per representative of XOOPS.org. Hopefully enough to break it down even further for more direct contact.
