I realized I forgot to officially announce to the Xoops community a new site I created a few months ago at www.idolnotes.com.

IdolNotes! is a community site for fans of the reality tv show, American Idol. After 5 years of closet fanaticism, I decided to take the plunge and build a site for fans of the show. It's still young and in bad need of some graphic design, but Xoops has proven to be an effective platform for the site.

If you love or love-to-hate American Idol, come check us out at:
