I have just opened a new site (using an old name). This site focuses on myths, fables, tales, and folklore. Much of the content remains in development although the site structure and layout is almost completely operational.

Please visit the site and enjoy our artwork (I have three very talented artists who have allowed me to show their work on this site). When you visit please sign the Guest Map, too.

Enjoy!

btw. I am looking for links to similar sites, so if you know of any please let me know!
