I've ported the Mollio Type B Theme (Mollio web site) to XOOPS. This is a 2-column theme that uses drop down menus for the user and main menus.

Note that this theme has some odd block placement (search block in the header, menus across the top) this is accomplished using the right-column blocks and some weird looping in the theme.

Using this theme requires some block rearrangement and template changes. Be sure to read the readme.txt file before deciding if you want to use it.
