The XBS Modgen Module Generator for Xoops is now available in its beta release. We've added a full user documentation set with an example of how and what you need to do to create a simple module. Also added for this release is the ability to define blocks.

You have to program the logic into your module but this utility should save you hundreds of man hours in setting up new modules.

The 1000 or so of you that downloaded the alpha version are encouraged to get this one (overwrite and update the mod, no need to reinstall). Let us know what you think via Business Systems for Xoops.
