

How to display a dynamic content in your theme (outside Xoops blocks) ? - Modules

NEWS_PDF_AUTHOR: hervet

NEWS_PDF_DATE: 2006/12/23 14:17:06

In a previous article, I was talking to you of the release of one of my modules, Boox, with wich you can manage static content wich is not approachable by Xoops.

The module is very useful but for this moment you can't manage dynamic content. It could be useful if you could put in your site's theme, the content from any Xoops module.

I'm showing you a solution on wich I have worked.

Read the full article here

In a previous article, I was talking to you of the release of one of my modules, Boox, with which you can manage static content which is not approachable by Xoops.

The module is very useful but for this moment you can't manage dynamic content. It could be useful if you could put in your site's theme, the content from any Xoops module.

I'm showing you a solution on which I have worked.

Read the full article here