I am very pleased to announce that jlmzone has gone wireless.

Using the wap-addon module from Society. I had to make very many changes to actually make it work for me, but I like it.

Very good work Society. (you can even update the hawhaw files without messing with the module.)

Now that I have it working I want to show the world. Can you tell I am very excited. I only have a wireless phone so I can't test it out on other wireless devices, If you notice it doesn't work for some devices please let me know.

Thanks again to society, and Xoops for making this possible.
