Today we are inaugurating the new Web page of “Capital Visual”, a company integrated by people who work together in this world of the visual contact, developing professional projects for their clients, contributing with new ideas and continue learning things that they did not know. They understand that the Good Design must be something daily.

That all the things have to be done with much sensitivity, taking care of the harmony of the forms and tones, clarifying each small detail, principle that they practices even in their Web page. They know that pleasant surroundings and an effective communication guarantee the understanding between the people, that’s what their page communicates.
