Following D.J's (phppp) decision to blank module development, a new site, xoopsmoddev.org has been born. All module developers are invited to join the site.

What's it about?

Simple really: Its a home for module developers to manage their work. It's new, the PM side of things is still being developed but in the meantime, mod devs are invited to join and give their views on how the site and organisation should be run.

XoopsModDev.org is a 'not for profit' community initiative
