After a hard work over the whole weekend, Aphex Themes has opened this morning for visitors that run older versions IE of browser than IE7. With this, theme has suffered more modifications such as using images for block's titles, also notable is that we don't use any js or htc for making png transparent for older browsers.

The optimization for older IE was done purely for the challenge as i gathered more and more users browse using Firefox 😊. Minor things remained to be done but they can be done with the opened site. Well enough said

Thank you
