LLIKA is the name of my Web design studio. I have started developing a Xoops website a couple of years ago, in that case, for a news site project of my own. But later I started making more Xoops sites for me as well for friends and other people. So I decided to promote the Xoops website design as a service.

Using Multimenu, Smartsection for creating the sections of the site, XsGal to show the logos and banners I designed, WFLinks to show the portfolio, examples of Xoops Sites not made by me too, and links, by the way; and Liaise for contact form.

The theme was adapted by me, taking as starting point an artnomad creation as the credits says.
