
Video Tube Update v1.1 - Modules

Posted by: tank1955

Posted on: : 2008/4/26 16:30:00

Video Tube v1.1 is scheduled to be released on Monday, April 28, 2008 and is currently being field tested. It contains some bug fixes such as administrator edit function not working and some blocks appearing twice based on certain templates. The major change is that all module templates and database interaction functions have been updated so the module works with XOOPS 2.0.16 and up PLUS it is now compatible with XOOPS 2.2.x sites. One new feature has been added so Registered User's Submissions can be Auto Approved.

Video Tube is an XOOPS module that is part of CVD's KISS modules. KISS stands for Keep It Simple Series. The module provides the ability to manage YouTube videos and display them on your site taking advantage of the video embedding feature available through YouTube.

The module provides configurable display formats, user submission interface, admin interface for reviewing and publishing videos, six different blocks including Random, Most Viewed and Latest, and a Video Help page to assist visitors in making video submissions.