X Basic Graphs is an experimental prototype for adding JpGraph functionality to your XOOPS site and is now available for Download

Simply stated, X Basic Graphs (with JpGraph Library) uses the information you provide in a php file to generate a graphic image of the desired graph or chart. To display the image you employ a simple html img tag defining the source of the image as the associated php file.

If you would like to share your graph creations with others we will add them under the /graphs/ subdirectory organized by module they are associated with.
