Lawsuit 1.46
Contact Forms with Verbose Checking

Lawsuit is an module for XOOPS that allows for categories and pages to be create with associated forms. The forms are completely customisable and offer a method of display data in pertinence to any legal issue and collect data for an inquiry or application to a law firm, lawyer or solicitors service so they can ask unique question to do with the case.

You can have as many forms and pages as well as categories as the database supports. Each page can have a customised form associated with it where you can retrieve related information to do with the presentation of the case or issue you are seeking clients on for legal representation.

There are other application for this module which can be easily cloned or change to suit other forms of paginated liaise within your xoops site.

This is the first open release so please test and report any errors you are having.

In this version the XOOPS Captcha form element has been added to all form for spam prevention as well as a few reported minor bugs fixed with categories. There is also a system of validation points you can have where people have to validate via RegEx; a String Match or a Count higher than 0 on an SQL Statement including count(*) for the first field in select.
