Last Thursday and Friday I participated in the 2011 PHP Community Conference in Nashville, TN, promoting XOOPS 😃

It was great to meet in person many of the PHP heroes, incl. the PHP creator, Rasmus Lerdorf, as well as the Zend Framework gurus Matthew Weier O'Phinney and Ralph Schindler.

As you can see from the schedule, the program was packed with several very interesting tutorials and presentations, so it was a very good learning.

Of course, I was happy to share the XOOPS story with many of the developers there, and get some advise from them 😃

Overall, a great experience, and I am planning to go there again next year. Hopefully, there will be more representatives from our XOOPS Community!
