Xoops.org is now running the latest CVS version of XOOPS 2.

Feel free to look around the site and if you find any problems please let us know so that we can release it very soon..

One of the biggest changes we have made recently is the commenting feature that has been now integrated to the core, which enables any module to have the feature with consistent look and usage. Comments can be moderated, hidden, displayed in a nested view, and managed from Comment Manager in the admin section.
