greetz all together ...

i´ve just updated a new theme for <http://www.xoopsfactory.de>. I´m actually testing this theme on different browsers etc. would you please be so kind to help me ?

this theme is for the community and will come for download in september, when all tests are done.

xoopsfactory is a service for commercial sites who want their own individual theme and template. But there will come some downloads for the community. this is my "saying thanks" for the great service in xoops-communities.
